

A message from Brighter...

The Brighter program is a new way of talking to Australians about the role natural gas plays in their everyday life.

From gas-powered ships and the best public BBQs to the role industry plays in STEM education and supporting small businesses, the Brighter program exists to draw out and champion the positive stories surrounding Australian natural gas. We'll be telling these stories through stakeholders and local communities, through a vast array of digital channels, at local forums, through creative media and at live events. We'll be reaching a broad cross-section of Australians, including those completely unfamiliar with the industry, in a way that's meaningful to them.

We'd love you to join us in spreading the word or just learn more:
