

Disruptive Technologies

Featuring Uber and Moneycatcha

 Wednesday 18 July 2018

 5.30pm - 7.30pm

 Brookfield Place

WHEN

5.30 pm – 7.30 pm
18 July 2018

WHERE

Brookfield Place
Conference Room
Ground Floor
Brookfield Tower 2
123 St Georges Terrace
Perth WA 6000

EVENT CONTACT

Amie O'Mahony
Event Manager – WA/NT

events@amcham.com.au

 02 8031 9000 OR -

Book now through our website

www.amcham.com.au

Sponsorship Opportunities Available

Globalisation has been a powerful force in bridging boundaries, leading to unprecedented connectivity, evolving customer expectations and ultimately a shift in business thinking. While this opens up huge opportunities for growth, businesses are confronted with the challenge - disrupt or be disrupted.

To succeed, as global future leaders, it is important to not only be aware of potential disruptions but prepare accordingly.

Join AmCham on July 18, as two key architects in our technological future, Kate Debenham, State Manager - WA, Uber and Ruth Hatherley, CEO and Founder, Moneycatcha explore disruptive technologies impacting Western Australia.

*Kate Debenham, State Manager - WA, Uber
'The Future of Urban Mobility'*

The way we move around our cities is undergoing a rapid transformation, creating opportunities for government, industry and the community. To truly unlock the power of Uber's technology and build for the future, Uber is taking a collaborative approach to policy making, with the goal of making cities better for everyone. Kate Debenham, State Manager - WA for Uber will share her unique insights into the future of urban mobility.

*Ruth Hatherley, CEO and Founder, Moneycatcha
'How WA can Produce the Next Atlassian'*

Ruth Hatherley, CEO and Founder with Moneycatcha will share her unique insights on how Western Australia can produce the next Atlassian.

About NEXT: Network For Future Leaders

AmCham's NEXT: Network for Future Leaders mission is to connect and develop future leaders and business professionals who share an interest in the commercial and cultural relationship between Australia and the United States, by facilitating networking, educational and personal development opportunities.

Networking skills are priceless in this fast moving economy so come along and enhance your skills while building a great professional network!